Admission to a Teacher Education Program

Students wishing to enroll in a teacher education program at University of Northwestern must first be accepted into the education program through a formal admission process.

To be considered for admission to a teacher education program, a student must:

1. Achieve a cumulative GPA of at least 2.75 on a 4.00 scale, based upon a minimum of 25 semester credits earned from University of Northwestern. (A transfer student must be enrolled for at least one semester at University of Northwestern before being admitted to a teacher education program.)
2. Submit a completed Open/Closed File form to the Department of Teacher Education.
3. Complete EDU2215 Educational Foundations or an equivalent transfer course with a grade of C or better.
4. Complete the Department of Teacher Education Disposition Survey.
5. Submit evidence of a successful field experience in EDU2215 Educational Foundations or an equivalent transfer course.
6. Submit an autobiography and teaching decision paper to the Department of Teacher Education.
7. Achieve a grade of C or better in ENG1107 College Writing & Research, ENG2205 Critical Thinking and Writing.
8. Demonstrate speech proficiency by receiving a B- or better in COM1075 Public Speaking or COM1825 Honors Public Speaking. Students not achieving a B- or better in this course must submit a "Certification of Proficiency in Speech" form signed by the course instructor.
9. Certify an understanding of state testing requirements and Department of Teacher Education recommendations around required state testing.
10. Certify an understanding of cooperating school requirements related to COVID-19 and background checks.
11. Interview with the Department of Teacher Education's Admission and Retention Committee. The student must meet with the committee and be accepted into a teacher education program before taking selected 3000- and 4000-level education classes.

Retention in a Teacher Education Program

Retention in a teacher education program is based on the following:

1. Maintaining a cumulative GPA of at least 2.75.
2. Maintaining a GPA of at least 2.75 in the major.
3. Meeting all minimum grade requirements as defined in the university catalog.
4. Obtaining satisfactory field experience recommendations.
5. Successfully completing all Professional Behavior Plans and Academic Progress Plans required by the Admission and Retention Committee.
6. Students in a teacher education program must be able to demonstrate the health, safety, and stamina necessary for working with children and young adults. The Admission and Retention Committee may request documentation from a health care professional in verifying a student's ability to meet health, safety, and stamina standards and may use this information in decisions related to long-term program planning.

If the appropriate GPA is not maintained, consideration may be given by the Department of Teacher Education to dismiss the student from the teacher education program or to counsel the student into another program area.

A student receiving less than the minimum grade a second time in a course which the Department of Teacher Education or major specifies as requiring a minimum grade, will result in automatic termination of enrollment in a teacher education program. Minimum grade requirements are listed on page 107.

If a student receives a negative evaluation from a field experience, that experience must be repeated successfully before student teaching. A field experience may be repeated only once.

The Admission and Retention Committee will make the final decision in dismissal cases. All dismissal cases may be appealed.

For further details regarding admission and retention in Teacher Education programs, see the University of Northwestern Teacher Education Handbook.

Teacher Licensure

Students who successfully complete teacher education programs at University of Northwestern and who meet Minnesota teacher licensure requirements are eligible to apply to the Minnesota Professional Educator Licensing and Standards Board (PELSB) for licensure in their program areas. Students should follow the licensure application process outlined in the Teacher Education Handbook. Copies of the handbook are available in the Department of Teacher Education office and on its Confluence site. All first-time licensure candidates are required to pay a fee and have a criminal background check completed as part of the licensure application process.

For those seeking licensure in another state, most states require that candidates first obtain licensure in the state where they earned their degree. Candidates may need to meet additional requirements for licensure as determined by the state in which they are seeking licensure.

Licensure candidates must meet the licensure requirements that are current at the time of program completion. These requirements take precedence over all earlier curriculum requirements. Students are encouraged to work closely with an academic advisor in order to be aware of changes in licensure requirements that may affect their programs.

Candidates applying for Minnesota teacher licensure are required by Minnesota teacher licensure laws to successfully complete standardized tests as part of the licensure system. Information about these tests is available in the Teacher Education Handbook and in the Department of Teacher Education office.

Teacher Licensure Program Portfolio

All students completing a teacher licensure program must successfully complete a licensure program portfolio as defined within the Teacher Education Handbook and Portfolio Handbook available in the Department of Teacher Education office and on its Moodle site. Portfolios are typically submitted for review in the semester preceding student teaching.

Post-Baccalaureate Teacher Licensure Program

Students who already have an earned bachelor's degree and wish to complete the requirements for Minnesota teacher licensure may apply for the post-baccalaureate teacher licensure program. Candidates for the post-baccalaureate program must be admitted to University of Northwestern and meet all requirements for admission to teacher education programs. In addition, they must have earned a bachelor's degree from a four-year, regionally accredited institution with a GPA of at least 2.75 on a 4.00 scale. The bachelor's degree major must be applicable to the area of licensure, as determined by the Department of Teacher Education. Candidates interested in the post-baccalaureate teacher licensure program should contact the Office of Admissions. No degree is granted for post-baccalaureate teacher education coursework completed at Northwestern. An individual program plan is designed for each candidate and requirements are met through the completion of courses offered through the traditional undergraduate program.

Educational Studies Major

A degree program in educational studies is available upon recommendation by the Department of Teacher Education. The major does not lead to teacher licensure in the state of Minnesota. Students interested in this major should consult with their academic advisor or the Department of Teacher Education. This program is not open to students with pre-professional program standing.

Dual Licensure Options

Students may choose to complete licensure in two fields. This typically adds a minimum of two semesters to the academic program. Students who wish to complete a dual licensure program should contact the Department of Teacher Education office for details regarding program planning.

Admission to Student Teaching

All students who have been admitted to a teacher education program and who wish to complete student teaching must be formally admitted to student teaching in their major.

This is accomplished by completing the following procedures:

1. The student determines with his/her advisor the projected year and semester of student teaching, based on successful completion of EDU3235 Instructional Foundations and all methods courses and reports this to the Director of Student Teaching. EDU3235 must be taken before methods courses.
2. The student attends an application meeting with the Director of Student Teaching during the fall semester of the school year preceding student teaching.
3. The student completes the application material for student teaching and returns it to the Director of Student Teaching by the deadline set at the orientation meeting. Late applications may result in an appeal and a delay in the student teaching semester. INCOMPLETE APPLICATIONS WILL NOT BE ACCEPTED. The student must notify the Director of Student Teaching of any changes in the information.
4. The student must meet with the Admission and Retention Committee during the semester preceding student teaching. This meeting is called and led by the Coordinator of the major in which the student is seeking licensure. During this meeting, the committee will review the student's application for student teaching and provide a recommendation regarding admission to student teaching.

In order to receive final clearance by the Admission and Retention Committee to student teach, the student MUST satisfy the following requirements:

- a. Have a cumulative GPA of at least 2.75 in all University of Northwestern coursework at the end of the semester preceding student teaching.
- b. Have a cumulative GPA of at least 2.75 within the major and pass all major and minor field courses with a grade of C or better.

- c. Remove all course incompletes and any grades below C in the education core or grades below departmental standards within the major or minor. Courses requiring minimum grades before student teaching are listed below.
- d. Successfully complete all coursework in the education major or minor, including field placements.
- e. Successfully complete all Professional Behavior Plans. Obtain clearance from the Department of Teacher Education office.
- f. Successfully complete all Academic Progress Plans. Obtain clearance from the Department of Teacher Education office.

Students currently enrolled in their last methods courses may meet with the Admission and Retention Committee. However, final approval for student teaching is contingent upon satisfactory completion of all education core and methods courses.

5. Placement confirmation information will be sent from the Director of Student Teaching to the student. Although this information may be received prior to meeting with the Admission and Retention Committee, final approval for student teaching will be granted only after the student's meeting with the committee and demonstrating to them the completion of all requirements.
6. The student teacher is required to register for EDU4835, Seminar in Professional Issues, the same semester as student teaching. Orientation sessions precede the placement start date. Due to liability issues, absences from any orientation session will result in the student being ineligible to student teach. In such cases, the student teaching experience will be rescheduled, usually the next semester.

Retention in Student Teaching

Retention in student teaching is dependent upon satisfactory evaluations from the cooperating teacher and the UNW supervisor throughout the student teaching placement.

Should academic or professional concerns regarding the student teacher's performance arise, an intervention meeting with the Admission and Retention Committee will be scheduled by the coordinator of the major.

Withdrawal from a student teaching placement for any reason results in termination of all future student teaching placements and will require the candidate to reapply to the student teaching program.

Additional student teaching may be required as recommended by the Admission and Retention Committee as supported by the final evaluation submitted by the cooperating teacher or the UNW supervisor.

Tuition refund and transcript notation policies defined in the catalog for all Northwestern courses apply to withdrawal from student teaching.

Readmission to Student Teaching

A student who wishes to be readmitted to student teaching after a withdrawal or termination from student teaching must reapply for admission to student teaching. Student teaching may be repeated only once, for a total of two attempts. All repeats of student teaching are subject to the approval of the Department of Teacher Education Admission and Retention Committee. Procedures for reapplying to student teaching may be found in the Teacher Education Handbook, which is available in the Department of Teacher Education Office and Department of Teacher Education Confluence site.

Music Major Progress Interview

During the sophomore year, the Music Major Progress Interview is to be held before the music faculty. The Interview is to determine the student's progress in lower-level music courses and to formally grant status as a music major, thereby permitting access to 4000-level music courses. Please contact the Music Office for information and guidelines regarding the Music Major Progress Interview.

Music Theory Placement Exam

Incoming students with substantial background in music theory may choose to attempt a placement exam to test out of portions of the theory or sight singing and ear training sequence. More information is available from the Music Office.

Transfer Students

- All transfer music major applicants must go through the Music Audition Application process (including the online Music Theory Placement Exam) in order to be admitted (unwsp.edu/music).
- At least 50% of the required ensemble credits for a music major/minor must be completed at UNW.
- The number of applied lesson credits accepted by UNW will be determined after one semester of applied lessons at UNW.
- Transfer credit for coursework in music theory or sight singing/ear training will be accepted only by placement exam. This policy applies to both transfer applicants and current UNW students. Transfer credit and/or placement in the UNW theory and sight singing/ear training sequence will be based on the applicant's performance on the exam.
